New health CO-OP receives insurance license

(DES MOINES, Iowa) April 3, 2013 — CoOpportunity Health, Nebraska and Iowa's new nonprofit Consumer Operated and Oriented Plan (CO-OP), received a Certificate of Authority to provide health insurance from the Nebraska Department of Insurance.

"We're pleased to have completed the state insurance licensing process in Nebraska. This is an important accomplishment in our business plan, and keeps us on track toward introducing our innovative health insurance solutions to Nebraska and Iowa individuals and businesses later this year," said David Lyons, CoOpportunity Health CEO.

CoOpportunity Health became one of the first nonprofit CO-OPs to be approved by the Centers of Medicare and Medicaid (CMS) in February 2012. To date, 24 CO-OPs have been approved in 24 states.

CoOpportunity Health will provide a broad choice of health insurance plans for individuals and families, small businesses, and large employers. The company will begin marketing activities on Oct. 1, 2013, to coincide with the availability of the new Health Insurance Marketplace (online Exchange) in Nebraska and Iowa. In addition to enrolling in CoOpportunity Health plans on the Marketplace, the company's products will be available to purchase outside the Marketplace through a selective network of brokers and agents, as well as on its own website.

CoOpportunity Health also expanded its initial board of directors, comprised of founders David Lyons, Stephen Ringlee, and Cliff Gold, to include Harris A. Frankel, M.D., a specialist and medical director at the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC), and Nancy Thompson, executive director of the Health Center Association of Nebraska (HCAN). A majority of the board of directors must be comprised of members within two years after it begins marketing products later this year.
